OF
LAW OF THE REPUBLIC OF INDONESIA
NUMBER 23 OF 2003
ON
THE GENERAL ELECTION OF THE PRESIDENT AND VICE PRESIDENT

I. GENERAL

1. Background

The fourth paragraph of the preamble of the 1945 Constitution of the Republic of Indonesia, among other things, states that the freedom of the nation of Indonesia is compiled in a Constitution, which is formulated in a state structure of people’s sovereignty of the Republic of Indonesia.

Article 1 paragraph (2) of the amended 1945 Constitution of the Republic of Indonesia states that “the sovereignty lies on the hand of its people and is implemented in accordance with its Constitution.” This amendment means that the people’s sovereignty is no longer exercised fully by the MPR, but it is exercised in accordance with the stipulation in the Constitution. One of the outcomes of people’s sovereignty is the implementation of a general election both to elect members of DPR, DPR and DPRD as well as to elect the President and Vice-President, all of which are implemented in accordance with the legislation as the materialization of a constitutional state within the framework of the Integrated State of the Republic of Indonesia.

Article 6A of the 1945 Constitution states that “The President and Vice-President are elected in one pair directly by the people” and that “The Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidate pair shall be nominated, before the commencement of General Election, by a political party or a coalition of political parties participating in the election.” The President and Vice-President are elected once every five years in a direct, public, free, secret, honest, and fair general election, which is organized by an election commission which is national, permanent and independent.

Political parties are the main channel to struggle for the aspirations of the people, nation and country, as well as an infrastructure of regeneration and recruitment of national leadership. Therefore, the electoral participants in the Presidential and Vice-Presidential Election are candidate pairs nominated by a political party or coalition of political parties, whose nomination is conducted democratically and openly in accordance with the internal mechanism of the political party or by agreement amongst the coalescing political parties.
A direct Presidential and Vice-President election by the people is a political process for the people of Indonesia to move towards a more democratic and accountable political culture. Therefore, to ensure a Presidential and Vice-President election of higher quality, which promotes a healthy degree of competition, is participative and accountable, it is necessary to formulate a law on Presidential and Vice-President elections.

2. Objective

The Presidential and Vice Presidential Election is held with the objective to elect a President and Vice-President who have strong support from the people so that they would be able to exercise functions of state government powers to achieve national goals as mandated by the 1945 Constitution.

2. The Principle

Based on Article 22E paragraph (1) of the 1945 Constitution, the Presidential and Vice-Presidential Election is held directly, publicly, freely, secretly, honestly and fairly.

Direct

People as voters have the right to give their votes directly, in accordance with their aspirations and conscience, without any mediator.

Public

Basically, all citizens who fulfill the requirements in accordance with this law have the right to participate in the election. An election of public nature means guaranteeing that opportunities are given fully to all citizens, without discrimination on grounds of ethnicity, religion, race, group, gender, region, occupation and social status.

Free

Every citizen eligible to vote is free to determine his or her choice without any pressure or intimidation from anybody. In exercising his or her right, each citizen is guaranteed his/her security, so that he/she can vote in accordance with his/her aspirations and conscience.

Secret

It is ensured that voters choices in voting are not known by any party and by any means. Voters give their votes on the ballot papers without any person knowing to whom the vote is given.

Honest

In the implementation of the Election, every election organizer, government apparatus, candidate pair, political party, campaign team, election supervisor, election observer, voters and all related parties must behave and act honestly in accordance with the legislation.

Fair

In the implementation of the Election, every election organizer and all related parties must behave and act fairly. Voters and candidate pairs must receive fair treatment, free from fraud by any party.

4. Implementation of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential Election

The Presidential and Vice-Presidential election is part of the same series as the election of the members of the DPR, DPD and DPRD, conducted once in five years. A direct Presidential and Vice-Presidential election shall give stronger legitimacy to the elected President and Vice President in executing the state government's power.

The KPU and its apparatus as the organizers of the election of members of the DPR, DPD and DPRD, is also the organizer of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential election, and whose terms of office are adjusted by the provisions in this law. The provisions on the KPU and its apparatus as stipulated in Law Number 12 of 2003 on the Election of members of DPR, DPD and DPRD shall be enacted by this law, and for matters that have not been regulated in Law Number 12 of 2003, stipulations in this law shall be enacted.

5. Electoral Participants in the Presidential and Vice-Presidential Election

Candidate pairs who can participate in the Presidential and Vice-Presidential election shall be Candidate Pairs nominated by an eligible political party or coalition of political parties. A political party or coalition of political parties may only nominate one pair of eligible candidates if it obtains at least 15% of the number of seats in the DPR or at least 20% of the national valid votes in the election of members of the DPR. This regulation means that political parties as the channel of public political participation to nominate candidates, have conducted a preliminary selection of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates. In addition to the requirements for the political parties, the Presidential and Vice-Presidential candidates must also fulfill the requirements as regulated in the 1945 Constitution.

Moreover, the requirement that at least two candidate pairs stand for a direct election means that the people have the opportunity to select the best Candidate Pair.

6. Supervision, Observation and Law Enforcement

Supervision and observation of the election shall be based on the principle of accountability. The implementation of the general election is supervised to accommodate and respond to reports of violations and disputes. The implementation of the Presidential and Vice-Presidential election shall be supervised by Election Supervisors as stipulated in Law Number 12 of 2003 on the General Election of Members of the DPR, DPD and DPRD, whose terms of office shall be adjusted in accordance with this law. Violations and the resolution of electoral disputes related to administrative provisions and election procedures shall be handled by the KPU. Law enforcement related to criminal provisions shall be conducted by a general judicial court. Resolution of disputes about the result of a Presidential and Vice-Presidential election shall be conducted by the Constitutional Court.
