In Australian Cartel Regulation, leading competition law experts Caron Beaton-Wells and Brent Fisse reflect on developments in trade practices law in Australia over the last 30 years. They provide a comprehensive account of the current law as well as discussing key issues that may arise in the future.

The impact of the prohibitions, the exceptions, the principles and rules governing corporate and individual liability; the policies that guide decisions on enforcement, immunity and cooperation; the sanctions and the implications for compliance and liability control are all critically assessed. This definitive volume not only identifies the practical and theoretical issues, but also recommends workable solutions, and does so with the benefit of comparative analysis of the anti-cartel laws of major overseas jurisdictions.

Many of the issues identified and discussed in Australian Cartel Regulation are common to any scheme designed to regulate cartel conduct.

"The present work is a welcome attempt to unravel the key issues of law and policy raised by so major a change to the Trade Practices Act 1974 (Cth). The authors are leading academic and professional competition lawyers in Australia. They explain the new legislation in detail, point out its shortcomings, and propound sensible improvements... it will without doubt be quickly recognised as indispensable."

The Hon Peter Heerey QC, Dawson Chambers

"...the student of comparative law, as well as Australian practitioners and enforcement agencies who need to be knowingly concerned in the application of the legislation, will find much to learn from this comprehensive analysis by Beaton-Wells and Fisse.."

George Hay, Cornell Law School
