

ALLA NATIONAL WEBINAR

Discrimination Law Reform: Evaluating Progress, Identifying Gaps

The last few years have seen significant changes to workplace discrimination laws. At the federal level, the Respect@Work report led to changes to sex discrimination and sexual harassment laws. The ACT and Northern Territory have recently amended their anti-discrimination legislation, and change is on the horizon in Queensland. This webinar will examine these developments, including new mechanisms like positive duties, and identify areas still in need of reform.

DATE Monday, 20 November 2023

TIME 1:00pm AEDT

Online via Zoom webinar

REGISTER HERE

This event is free of charge, but places are limited.

CPD/CLE points may be claimed for this event in all State and Territories except WA

Dominique Allen is an Associate Professor in the Department of Business Law and Taxation at Monash University and the Director of the Labour, Equality and Human Rights research group (LEAH). Dominique is a socio-legal scholar researching anti-discrimination law, equality, sexual harassment and the role of ADR in resolving legal disputes. She has published widely on these topics in Australia and internationally and is a co-author of Australian Anti-Discrimination and Equal Opportunity Law (The Federation Press, 2018).

Alysia Blackham is an Associate Professor at Melbourne Law School, the University of Melbourne. Her research focuses on the intersection between equality law, labour law, and public law, using socio-legal and empirical research methods to cast new light on legal problems. Alysia held an Australian Research Council Discovery Early Career Researcher Award grant from 2017–20, and has published widely in the UK, Europe and Australia. Her award-winning books include Extending Working Life for Older Workers: Age Discrimination Law, Policy and Practice (Hart, 2016) and Reforming Age Discrimination Law: Beyond Individual Enforcement (OUP, 2022).

<https://law.unimelb.edu.au/alla>